Dear Leader McConnell, Speaker Pelosi, Leader Schumer and Leader McCarthy:

As mayors, we write to urge you to include S.3964, The Cultivating Opportunity and Response to the Pandemic through Service (Corps Act) in the next COVID-19 relief package. The bipartisan bill, introduced by Senators Chris Coons (D-DE) and Roger Wicker (R-MS) and cosponsored by Senators Cory Booker (D-NJ), Lindsey Graham (R-SC), Jack Reed (D-RI), Marco Rubio (R-FL), Tammy Duckworth (D-IL), Cindy Hyde-Smith (R-MS), Kamala Harris (D-CA), Bill Cassidy (R-LA), Tammy Baldwin (D-WI.), John Cornyn (R-TX), Angus King (I-ME), and Susan Collins (R-ME), would provide a comprehensive, locally focused, national service strategy to help communities, including ours, respond to and recover from the COVID-19 pandemic.

As our own cities and the country as a whole, contemplate the future, we know that the challenges to recovery – for our grieving families, shuttered schools and churches, and halted economy – are manifold. And as you know, the road to normalcy will require more than economic stimulus, even historic levels of it. We should call on Americans across the country to step up and contribute through service.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt created the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) to help America recover from the Great Depression. The 21st century version of the CCC, AmeriCorps and Senior Corps members, are already actively helping respond to the pandemic. They are serving at drive-thru testing sites, providing child care for health care workers, helping deliver food and life-saving medicines to our most vulnerable, supporting students struggling with distance learning, checking in on isolated seniors, and more. But we need their help in far greater numbers if we are to successfully recover from one of the greatest challenges our country has ever faced.

The CORPS Act expands the number of national service positions from 75,000 to 150,000 the first year and then steadily to 250,000 by year three. It would also encourage participation by members of low-income and underrepresented communities and extend priority enrollment to Peace Corps, U.S. Fulbright, and AmeriCorps participants whose service or grants was interrupted by the COVID-19 pandemic.

As we face the triple threat of a health, economic, and educational crisis, we should lean into the robust and flexible national service infrastructure offered by AmeriCorps and Senior Corps to meet the acute needs mounting in our communities.

The CORPS Act would ensure AmeriCorps can provide surge capacity to support job counseling, training and placement programs to get Americans back to work; hunger prevention programs to deliver meals to senior citizens or staff community and church food banks; and education programs to help our students make up for lost time in the classrooms. Investing in national service organizations will enhance communities' ability to address, respond, and recover from the far-reaching impacts of COVID-19.

We urge you to include the CORPS Act in the next COVID-19 relief package so we can tap the talent and energy of national service members to help our cities and the country respond to and recover from this pandemic.

Sincerely,
